To whom it may concern,

I was introduced to a unique unit designed to eliminate airborne contaminants within the embalming room at our funeral home. Initially being skeptical, I nonetheless accepted a demonstration of this unit (called LeVOCC ). Because of its ability to eliminate formaldehyde gases was the predominant reason my curiosity was tweaked.

I understand the extreme health hazards that exist in this profession in the use of formaldehyde, and having my son becoming involved further emphasizes the value of LeVOCC. Also, smells that normally permeate from our prep room to other areas of our facility are negated. This puts myself and our staff more at ease.

Since purchasing this unit, I continue to have nothing but positive results. I can be contacted at any time and completely recommend this machine to anyone.

Sincerely,

Ray C. Smith
